

1. Merudhree Geeta: I salute in adoration the Meru Devee, Who is the Controller of the abodes, Who is the Auspicious, and Who is situated on the panoramic peak of the Meru bearing the sixteen facets. I adore constantly the Moon-faced, Who wanders in the garden of the jamboo trees (Rose-apple trees), Who is without doubts, Who dispels the doubts, and Who has the form of the golden deer. I salute constantly the Meru Devee, the Moon of the Meru, Who is to be invoked, Who is the deity established in the Śree Chakra, and Who is garlanded with precious gems which save. I adore constantly the Grantor Meru, Who is shining like gold, Who is wearing golden garlands, Who is the fascinating creeper in the golden projection, Who is in the center of the chariot, and Who is pervading all directions. I adore always the Meru Devee, Who is the most ancient emancipator, Who is the receiver of the morning salutation, Who bears the most conspicuous form. One should behold the Superhuman Power of Meru, Who is the most precious woman, Who wears a chain around her loins, Who has a blue neck like the peacock, Who has crested hair, Who is the Controller of the Universe, Who has a net. I salute constantly the Upright Meru, Who is abounding in fruits and flowers, Who is vibrant, Who is the copious collection of fragrant sacred verses, Who is the agent of action, Who is the impelling force of action, Who is the desire for action. I drink constantly the water from the Meru, Who is the resting place filled with nine precious gems, Who is the recreation filled with nine flavors, Who is the grantor of the boons now-a-days. I salute constantly the Possessor of the Meru, Who is forever the incarnation of the religious austerity, Who is forever happening at that time, Who is the magical veil rendering Herself invisible, and Who is the Auspicious. I adore constantly the Triumphant Meru, Who is in the center of the abode of consciousness, Who is with the power of intelligence, Who is surprising, Who has the banner of victory, Who is moving without interruption. I salute constantly the One entirely directed towards Meru, Who is to be approved without any hesitation, Who is the intellectual faculty, Who is the instructor of the true knowledge, Who is the most excellent, Who is filled with light, Who is the personification of knowledge. I adore constantly the Crest of Meru, Who is jumping making the tinkling sound, Who is wearing a garland of jasmine flowers, Who is pervading the space, Who is the moonlight. I salute constantly the Auspicious Meru, Who is the foremost supernatural being, Who is the eminent of the Taittireeya forest, namely, Ānanda, Who is the Goddess attainable through the rite of sacrifice. I adore constantly the Journey to Meru, Who is the most resplendent, Who is conferring glory on, Who is the bearer of the power, Who is the bearer of the staff, Who is the heaven and earth, Who is the ever-flowing water, Who is adorable. I salute constantly the Invincible Meru, Who is in deep sleep of continuous bliss, Who is the current of the stream of nectar, Who bears the pious eye, Who is Dakṣhayaṇee. I adore constantly the Recreation of Meru, Who is uninjured, Who is the word, Who is the immortality, and Who is quoted repeatedly.