61. Mṛṇḍūkya Upanishat A Major Vedānta Upanishat From Adharvaṇa Veda

Hail Hari

O Gods, may we hear
what is auspicious with our ears,
O Venerable Ones, may we see what is auspicious with our eyes,
May we live in strong limb and body,
So long as we are ordained by the gods.

May the ancient and renowned Indra protect us,
May the All-knowing Pooshan protect
us,
May the All-curing TārksHYa protect us,
May Brihaspati give us protection.

Om Peace Peace Peace

1. This syllable Omn is all this.
It is now being interpreted.
What is past, present, and future is Omn
itself.
What is beyond the threefold time is also Omn.

2. All this is Brahman indeed.
This self is Brahman.
This self is fourfold.

3. In the first quarter the self is referred to as the Normal Self (Vaiśvānara) and he is stated to be in the waking state.
His consciousness extends to outer objects which are gross and is associated with seven organs and nineteen mouths.

4. In the second quarter he is referred to as the Paranormal Self (Taijasa) and is

9. Jāgarita sthāno Vaiśvānaro'kārah, prathama mātṛa

stated to be in the dream state.
His consciousness is internal associated
with seven organs and nineteen mouths.
He enjoys subtle objects.

5. In that state wherein founded he desires nothing whatever, he dreams of nothing anymore, that state is called the state of deep sleep.
In this state of deep sleep everything becomes unified. He has extensive consciousness. He is filled with bliss.
He enjoys bliss with one mouth of the supermind.
He is referred to as the Parasensory Self (Prājñah) in the third quarter.

6. He is the Lord of all. He is the knower of all. He is the inner controller. He is the origin, sustenance, and the dissolution of beings.

7. The self has neither internal consciousness nor external consciousness, nor both.
It is neither a mass of consciousness, nor consciousness nor unconsciousness.
It is unseen, unattached and is beyond the grasp of any.
It has no characteristic marks.
It is beyond imagination.
It is beyond any definition.
It is the essence of all others.
With the worlds withdrawn, it is serene, auspicious, and nondual. That is how the self is considered in the fourth quarter. It is the self. It is to be comprehended.

8. This very self remains as Omn in all the states.
With respect to quarters, however, the letters that constitute Omn stand for the quarters. They are A, U, and M.

9. The first letter A stands for the waking state and the normal self.

ap̄ter adimattvād
vap̄noti ha vai sarvaṇ kāmān
adiś cha bhavati ya evam̄n veda ||

It is because of the root 'ap' to obtain and is being the first. He who knows this obtains all his desires and becomes the first.

10. Svapna sthānas taijasa
ukāro dviteeya mātrotkarshād
ubhayatvād vā
utkarshati ha vai jñānam santatim̄n
samānaś cha bhavati,
nāsyā brahmavit kule bhavati,
ya evam̄n veda ||

10. The second letter U signifies the Exalted Self (Taijasaḥ) of the dream state. It is because it is exalted and is also being intermediate to the first and the third states. He who knows this enhances his knowledge and becomes equal to it. In his family no one will be born devoid of the knowledge of Brahman.

11. Sushupta sthānaḥ prajño
Makāras tpteeya mātṛā
miter apeeter vā
minoti ha vā idam̄n sarvaṁ,
apeetiś cha bhavati,
ya evam̄n veda ||

11. The third letter M signifies the Parasensory Self of the state of deep sleep. It is because it is the measure of all the preceding states or because it absorbs all the knowledge of the preceding states and combines. He who knows this becomes the absorber of all the knowledge.

12. Amātṛaś cha chaturtho'vyavahāryaḥ prapañchopaśamah śivo'dvaita
evam̄ ongkāra atmaiva
sam̄nviśaty-atmanatmānam
ya evam̄n veda,
ya evam̄n veda ||

12. The fourth is that without parts. It is beyond the grasp of all. It is that into which all these worlds are dissolved. It is auspicious and nondual. Thus the syllable Om̄n is the self. He who knows this enters into it with his self.
